“Halloween is a holiday favorite at Goodwill—a time when people get to unleash their creative juices,” said Goodwill Industries of Southern NJ & Philadelphia President & CEO Mark B. Boyd. “Beyond saving valuable dollars, purchases fund career services and job training programs that help individuals with disabilities get to work. Plus, you can be green by donating your costume back to Goodwill when you are finished with it.”

Goodwill Industries of Southern NJ & Philadelphia is a nonprofit, community-based organization. Revenue from the sale of donated items in Goodwill's retail stores fund job training programs and career services that help prepare local individuals with disabilities and disadvantages for competitive employment in the community. Currently, Goodwill operates 21 stores including Goodwill Home Medical Equipment in Ewing, NJ which sells gently-used durable home medical equipment and unopened supplies. Last year, Goodwill recycled more than 75 million pounds of donated textiles plus millions of pounds of e-waste.
