

Top Ways to Support Goodwill

Goodwill's mission is to help individuals with disabilities and disadvantages get to work. We fund our high caliber job training programs and career services through the mass collection and resale of your donated items. Beyond shopping and donating there are many ways you can support Goodwill...

Utilize our outsourcing services

Assembly, packaging, collating and web-based fulfillment—these are just a few of the cost effective outsourcing services that Goodwill's Outsourcing & Production Fulfillment Center offers. We can help your business meet its production goals while saving you dollars and manpower.

Hire graduates of our training programs

From administrative assistants and CDL-B drivers to warehouse workers and retail sales associates, Goodwill can help you fill both full and part time positions.

Host a Goodwill Donation Drive

Companies, schools, churches, condominium, and shopping centers are ideal locations for hosting Goodwill donation drives. And it's an easy community service project for students, Girls Scouts, Boy Scouts and other civic organizations to implement. You can host a drive for a day, a week or permanently!

Make your will a "Goodwill"

Create a gift to the community that keeps giving through bequests, gifts of life insurance or charitable trusts.

Donate in-kind items or real property

Your donations of cars, trucks, RVs and land "fuel" our job training programs. And if your company has a surplus of clothing or other product, consider donating them to Goodwill.

Support our Home Medical Division

Donate gently-used home medical equipment such as canes, walkers, wheelchairs, power scooters and hoier lifts to Goodwill Home Medical Equipment. This Ewing, NJ-based store helps get affordable home medical equipment into the hands of the people who need them the most.

Consider Making a Financial Gift to Support The Helms Academy

With the elimination of "night school," adults who have dropped out of high school have nowhere to turn to get their diploma. Now they have The Helms Academy, which offers tuition-free basic adult education classes to help adults 18+ attain their high school diplomas. Thanks to partnerships with Camden County College, Drexel University and The Community College of Philadelphia, our students also earn college credits!

Partner with us in other ways.....

Become an event sponsor. Donate unwanted items. Ask your company for a matching gift. Like us on Facebook. Shop till you drop. For even better deals, check out our Outlet Store. Host a Goodwill speaker at your next community event. Help spread the word about Goodwill in your community.
